

I am privileged to live in IN where there is a tough "No Call" policy in effect. Because I have opted out, I no longer receive unwanted phone calls during my dinner hour or during the evening when I spend time unwinding from my daily work. These telemarketers no longer are able to bother me, on my own phone that I pay for each month. If I want them, I'll call them! I do not want the federal government intuding upon me as a citizen and taking away or circumventing a current good law in this state. These people are intrusive, rude and overbearing. Keep them from getting any more of my personal information. Keep IN law as it now is.
